

The Anarchist Library
Anti-Copyright

In Memory of Kuwasi Balagoon

Marilyn Buck

December 13, 1986

Dear brother you spoke so plain children listened to your song of freedom played in games, stories and life brother you danced so lightly you whistled as you soared over prison walls and tombs dear brother your spirit sings songs of freedom wrenched from slaver's cruelty you leave us your tunes swinging blues

rocking rap
brass staccatos
peace by piece
a revolution riff

Marilyn Buck
In Memory of Kuwasi Balagoon
December 13, 1986

<https://web.archive.org/web/20070612125445/http://kersplebedeb.com/mystuff/profiles/balagoon/buck.html>

theanarchistlibrary.org

